Four Women For The Earth For The Future is a groundbreaking book that profiles four extraordinary women who are leading the fight against climate change and environmental degradation. These women are blazing a trail for the next generation of environmental leaders, and their stories are inspiring and empowering.

The Four Women

The four women profiled in the book are:

- Wanjira Mathai: A Kenyan environmentalist and political activist who is the founder of the Green Belt Movement. The Green Belt Movement has planted over 51 million trees in Africa, and it has helped to empower women and improve the lives of communities.
- Sunita Narain: An Indian environmentalist and activist who is the director of the Centre for Science and Environment. The Centre for Science and Environment is a leading research and advocacy organization that has helped to raise awareness of environmental issues in India and around the world.
- Christiana Figueres: A Costa Rican environmentalist and diplomat who was the executive secretary of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC). The UNFCCC is the international body responsible for negotiating and implementing the Paris Agreement on climate change.
- Hindou Oumarou Ibrahim: A Chadian environmental activist and indigenous rights advocate who is the president of the Association for Indigenous Women and Peoples of Chad (AFPAT). AFPAT is a non-profit organization that works to protect the rights of indigenous peoples and promote sustainable development in Chad.

The Book

Four Women For The Earth For The Future is a beautifully written and inspiring book. The author, Christiana Figueres, has a deep understanding of the environmental crisis and the role that women can play in solving it.

She tells the stories of these four extraordinary women with passion and eloquence, and she makes a compelling case for the importance of women's leadership in the fight for our planet.

The book is divided into four chapters, each of which profiles one of the four women. Each chapter also includes a discussion of the environmental issue that the woman is working to address. The chapters are:

- Chapter 1: Wanjira Mathai and the Fight Against Deforestation
- Chapter 2: Sunita Narain and the Fight Against Air Pollution
- Chapter 3: Christiana Figueres and the Fight Against Climate Change
- Chapter 4: Hindou Oumarou Ibrahim and the Fight for Indigenous Rights

The book concludes with a call to action for all of us to get involved in the fight for our planet. Figueres writes, "We need to create a world where all women and girls have the opportunity to reach their full potential, and where they are empowered to lead the fight for our planet's future." Four Women For The Earth For The Future is a powerful and inspiring book that will leave you feeling hopeful and motivated to make a difference.
